Zoe Clare • Sculptor

I am concerned with creating abstract forms, inspired by coral and other naturally occurring structures. I work predominantly with porcelain and am trying to push the medium's possibilities in two key ways; to work on very fine organic, repetitive detailing, rich in layers, colour and texture, yet to encapsulate unified, sweeping shape and form, pushing the possibilities of what can be achieved both in gravity and in a kiln.

I am inspired by the natural world and how nature interplays, creating unexpected connections and contradictions. Through this, I try to create sculptures in which the forms encapsulate organic simplicity and movement whilst the fine detailing encompasses time and process. I am concerned with creating thinking-forms that attempt to convey how we experience the world, both visually and emotionally.
